Paragraph Writing

Chili's! Babyback ribs... and barbeque sauce! That is the song that used to be on the commercials for my favorite restaurant, Chili's! I love Chili's for the food, the atmosphere, and the sounds I hear when I'm there. I love the food choices at Chili's.
I always order bottomless soup and salad.
Chips and salsa come with that. They taste so fresh! The soup is chicken tortilla soup. It is so cheesy and creamy.
When I walk inside Chili's I see the colors red and green. Those colors are on the walls and booths.
TVs are ~~is~~ ^{or} ~~hang~~ in every corner.

so I don't worry about missing any part of the Brewer game when I'm there. I love when really hot dishes are served. The sizzling sounds the plates make are torture for my tummy. I love Chiti's for the food, the atmosphere and the sounds. I give it two thumbs up!

Writing Genre (Circle One) Non-Fiction Report Poem

Step One

Revise

- Read your writing outloud to your editor.
 - o Does it make sense? Yes No
 - If not, fix it up to make sense.
- Ask your editor how you can make your piece better. (Choose one area for improvements by circling it.)

beginning - Nice - engaging!	description - Nice	problem
Great - ending	information - Complete	solution
details	characters	setting

- Make your changes on your rough draft. (Use a different color or cut and tape new sentences in if you have to.)

Step Two

Edit

- Read your writing outloud to your editor AGAIN.
- Ask your editor to check and correct for...
 - Capital letters
 - Spelling
 - Punctuation marks

Step Three

Ask the Editor

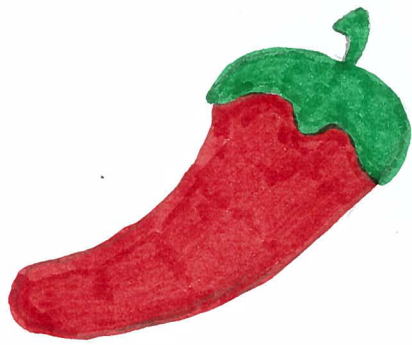

1. What is my piece about?

About my favorite restaurant Chili's and why I like it.

2. What do you like best about it?

I like the TVs and the food. It's good how the piece flows.

Now your writing is the best you can make it! Use your rough draft and copy your piece onto the final copy paper, using your VERY BEST handwriting.
